Oak Flat Holy Ground damaged by vandals

This weekend, a representative of the Apache Stronghold arrived at Oak Flat and discovered that vandals had damaged the four crosses of an Apache holy ground. According to the witness, Two of the crosses were missing, ripped from the ground and two of the crosses have been left standing, but destroyed with what appears to be an axe. Evidence of large tires driving through the space covered the dirt surrounding and through the site of prayer. Ceremonial eagle feathers were left laying on the ground. “This site is like a church. If this attack had happened at a church, it would be considered a crime.” said Wendsler Nosie, a leader from the Apache Stronghold. According to Carrie Templin, Public Affairs Office, Forest Service, Tonto National Forest, “The Tonto National Forest was alerted to this incident by Emily Bregel, from the Arizona Daily Star Monday. Tonto National Forest law enforcement officers were sent out to investigate.” The incident remains under investigation.

Home visitation program helps Pinal County boy be ready for kindergarten

The test confirmed what La Tasha Cartwright already knew.

Her son Josiah was ready for kindergarten.

Josiah had scored high on the kindergarten readiness test, called the Bracken School Readiness Assessment, which measures pre-academic readiness skills. The test is part of the Easter Seals Blake Foundation's Parents as Teachers program, which First Things First funds in the Pinal region.

It had been three years since Cartwright signed up Josiah for the program. At the time, she had decided to quit her job and concentrate on in-home child care for Josiah, then 2, and home schooling for her older daughter.

Parents as Teachers provides voluntary, in-home visits from a parent coach who provided parenting information, support and encouragement to help young children develop optimally during the crucial early years of life from birth to age 5.

Studies show that critical brain development reaches 90 percent by age 5, and critical skills like motivation, focus, self-discipline and self-esteem are developed during these early years.

"I wanted my children to love learning and become self-educators," Cartwright said. "With the help from the Parents as Teachers program, we learned to make a scheduled time to play and to make learning a priority. We also learned how to have fun with using the simplest of materials around the house. Sometimes we think we need all this stuff to teach our kids and really we don't."

The program also helped her better deal with what she described as Josiah's "meltdowns." Parent Educator Kim Alvey gave Cartwright recommendations on how to diffuse the meltdown and in some cases, how to prevent them.

Knowing what parents can expect for a child at different ages is important, Cartwright said. For example, a 2-year-old child might not be able to handle sitting still for a long period of time. Or if it's time to go to bed, give the child a 10 minute warning.

Alvey and Cartwright also worked with Josiah on how to control his loud voice.

"I brought a book with me to a visit called Voices Are Not for Yelling by Elizabeth Verdick," Alvey said. "I left the book with mom so she could read it to Josiah. With much practice and reinforcement from mom, Josiah was able to use his quieter voice inside and know if he was supposed to use a loud or soft voice in a situation."

As Cartwright learned about how best to teach her son, Josiah grew physically, socially, and cognitively, Alvey said.

"She would scaffold the activities, so when Josiah mastered one thing, mom would make the activity more challenging," she said. "For example, after Josiah learned his letters, mom would teach him the letter sounds. Once the letter sounds were mastered, mom started teaching him words. Josiah was now able to read."

Are you frustrated by technology? Is your computer or tablet running slow? Are you worried that you might have a virus on your computer?

Superior now has a new business that can help you with both residential and commercial technology needs. That business is Spalding Computer Services & Repair.

Robert and Esmeralda “Ezzy” Spalding recently opened their computer repair shop inside of Links of Superior at 230 Main St. in Downtown Superior. The couple originally was planning to build their business in Globe, however after attending a Second Friday event and meeting all the friendly people of Superior, they decided to base their business in Superior.

“Everyone in Superior is so warm and friendly,” said Ezzy.

The couple has been living in Globe for two years and is hoping to make Superior their home soon. Their service area includes the Copper Area communities of Globe, Miami, Kearny, Hayden and Winkelman along with Apache Junction, Queen Valley and Gold Canyon. They appreciate the support that the Superior Chamber of Commerce has given them.

“They encouraged us to meet the team at Links,” said Ezzy.

Robert began learning about computer repair at a very young age with his father. He became hooked on computer repair after buying a used computer at a thrift store, he tinkered with it eventually fully repairing the machine and optimizing its overall performance. He has been repairing computers ever since, about 15 years he explained.

What they most like about their business is being able to help people. They specialize in helping those less tech savvy with their technology needs. They can remove viruses, restore systems.

“We love seeing people happy once their systems are

Thirtieth Annual Apache Leap Mining

The theme for this year’s Apache Leap Mining Festival was “Women in Mining. From Pickaxe to Boardroom.” The top two parade prize winners went to the Gorham family who was celebrating over 115 years of women in their family who work in the mining industry and ASARCO who decorated an ATV as a pink hard hat. Third place went to Superior Dance Company for the folklorico dancers. This year’s Grand Marshal was Sydney Hay from AMIGOS. The Chihuahua races were won by the top three ladies of the competition. Penny came in first, Mocha came in second and Ginger came in third place. The mining competition was once again a big draw as hundreds gathered to watch the skill and speed of local miners. Winning in the competitions were:

Sawing: 1st Chris Liddle 16.22 seconds and 2nd James Verbois, 16.63 (these two fellows are engineering students at the U of A school of Mining).
Spiking: 1st Carlos Martinez 51.37, 2nd Chris Allison 54.12.

Festival - A Celebration for Everyone

Mucking: 1st Adrian Armijo and Abraham Torres 39.34, 2nd Jesus Gonzalez and AJ Quiroz 39.44. Drilling: 1st Carlos Martinez 41.47. 2nd Chris Allison 44.56. Overall Carlos Martinez 162.50 seconds. Total Winnings Awarded: $1,345.

On Sunday, there was a roping competition for both youth and adults. Winning the adult competitions were first place AJ Quiroz & Olivia Townsend, second place Abe and Victoria Arriola, Carlos Martinez Jr. and Abe. In the Junior competition the winners were Isabell Quiroz, Carlitos Martinez and JJ Gonzales. This event continues to grow in popularity each year. While the theme of the festival celebrated Women, there was something for everyone to enjoy from the Blasting Zone Bar, vendors, plenty of food, carnival, guided hikes and plenty of entertainment. Saturday night closed out with the crowd dancing to the music of Powerdrive. The horseshoe tournament that benefited the Richard Castaneda Memorial Scholarship hosted 27 teams.

TransCanada Corporation donates $5,000 to support CAC's Promise for the Future

The Central Arizona College Foundation has received $5,000 from TransCanada Corporation in support of the Promise for the Future program and the Foundation's newest campaign, 25 Changes Lives.

The Promise program is designed to encourage students living in Pinal County to stay in high school and graduate. During their 8th grade year, students complete the Promise Pledge. They must complete 20 hours of community service and graduate with a 2.75 grade point average or higher. A parent or guardian must also complete the Promise Pledge committing to support their child's efforts. CAC fulfills their promise by offering a tuition-free education for four consecutive semesters.

"TransCanada Corporation was one of our earliest supporters of Promise for the Future and we are grateful for their ongoing commitment to education," stated Maggie Dooley, Director of the CAC Foundation. "TransCanada's partnership with the Central Arizona College Foundation continues to provide college opportunities and quality educational experiences for students."

TransCanada Corporation provided a $175,000 initial endowment to the CAC Foundation in 2011 to assist with the Promise for the Future initiative. With

USDA Rural Development offers affordable funding for rural Arizona families wanting a home of their own

The United States Department of Agriculture’s Rural Development agency offers housing loans for people in rural areas of Arizona.

According to Rural Development staff, the 502 Direct Loan program features no down payment requirement, no mortgage insurance requirement, and subsidies are sometimes available to qualifying applicants.

Families or individuals interested in the program should have a good credit history and a dependable source of income. Homes must be located in rural areas. The program is designed for very low to low income people.

To check eligibility or for additional information on the 502 Direct Loan program, or other USDA Rural Development loan and grant opportunities, go to <http://eligibility.sc.egov.usda.gov/eligibility/welcomeAction.do>.

For further information, contact Rural Development office at 928-782-0860, extension 4.

back up and running. Especially small businesses,” explained Ezzy.

“Many people think they have lost photos or music, and we can usually restore their system to retrieve those items,” said Robert.

Their mission: “We believe that whether you are 18 or 81, everyone deserves to feel like they’re being treated with kindness and respect. Unfortunately, that’s rarely the case in the world of I.T. today. A lot of people think I.T. specialists are a bunch of stuck-up nerds who believe they’re better than the people they are attempting to help. Not with us! At Spalding Computer Service and Repair, we love to teach and help our residential and commercial customers, while always giving fast and friendly service.”

They hope to expand their business services to include computer sales along with computer repair. They can also do house calls to install computer equipment and printers. Their focus is on their customer and helping them to get their systems up and running quickly.

Their advice to fellow business owners and future entrepreneurs: “Love what you do, and enjoy helping people,” said Robert.

“Don’t be afraid to listen to the advice of others,” said Ezzy. “Some of the best business advice we have received has been from our customers.”

Globe Historic Home and Building Tour set for April 7-8

The 34th annual Historic Home and Building Tour is set for April 7-8 in Globe. Early day homes that bring alive the excitement of territorial Globe will be featured along with two historic churches, Holy Angels Catholic Church which is celebrating its centennial, and St. Peter's Lutheran Church..

Tickets for the tour are $15 for adults and $10 for children 12 and under. A souvenir copper ticket is your ticket to a fascinating reminder of some of the architectural gems that will remind visitors of Globe's history. Visitors will be shuttled from the train depot via courtesy between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Visitors are driven to the various stops where hostesses will explain the history and bring the properties to life.

Craftsmen quality, brick construction and quaint cottages are included on this year's tour.

The Pieces of Friendship Quilt Show will be ongoing the month of March and through the Home Tour weekend. It is showing currently at the Cobre Valley Center for the Arts and will be a stop on the tour, as will the old jail.

For the second year, the historic Cemetery Tour is scheduled the evening of April 7 and again, visitors will be shuttled from the train depot to the cemetery, where they will walk through and hear from characters dressed in historic garb. Participants should wear comfortable and clothing and walking shoes for the evening tour. Cost of this tour is $15 a person and combination tickets for the home tour and the cemetery tour are $25 a person. Buy the combination ticket prior to April 4, either online or at the chamber office or White Porch and you'll receive a special gift for early birds.

The Historic Home and Building Tour is put on the by Globe-Miami Chamber of Commerce. More than 100 volunteers are needed to put on the annual event, which marks its 34th anniversary this year. For more information call the chamber at 1-800-804-5623.
